Then I bought me a little dog, he weighed the lightest tonne
 I learned him to sing and dance, to wrestle and to run
 His legs were 4ft high , his ears were 4ft wide
 Round the world in half a day on my dog I'd ride

Chorus

The I bought me a flock of sheep with wool so very sleek
 And at the full of moon they had 6 lambs a piece
 These I sold for a little hen, of her I took much care
 I set her in a bird cage she hatched me out a hare

Chorus

That hare soon proved to be a mighty fearsome lion
 And when he roared so loudly turned the water into wine
 And any as can tell as bigger jest as me
 Oh Dear, Oh dear what a liar they must be
